Artist's statement

In my practice, I explore subjects such as the personal imagery, language, and the human condition. I find beauty in everyday objects and conversations that often become recurring thoughts or even obsessions. Drawing inspiration from both Mexican culture and international influences, my works display playfulness, reflected in the awkward shapes, bold colours, and organic patterns I create. Additionally, I often add both a tactile dimension and movement to my projects by working with painting, video, sculpture, and installation.
